THE INHOUSE OPEN HOUSE: THE PROPOSED NEW VISION FOR THE GLENORA SITE

Our first open house will be hosted on Thursday, June 25, 2015; details are listed below.

InHouse has been working with GEC Architecture and Stantec Consulting Ltd. to come up with a re-envisioned design for their Glenora site. In proposing design revisions, a rezoning of the site is required, which means that a formal application will be submitted to the City of Edmonton. As a part of the rezoning process, InHouse will be engaging the community to share ideas.

The proposed application for rezoning will be a “direct control” application, which means a specific set of regulations for this site only will be developed to govern how the layout and space will be configured, as well as setting the parameters for the future development of the site on a phased basis. The site will continue to be planned for a comprehensive, mixed-use development with residential towers, office, retail uses and amenity space, all integrated with the future LRT line.

InHouse is committed to making some functional improvements to the layout and configuration of the site, as well as introducing a different aesthetic look for the proposed buildings. Attend our open house for more information:
